... mi vuelta a Andalucía!

As a Spanish teacher for over 20 years I planned and enjoyed many school trips to Spain. My first trips with Arnold School in the late 1990s were to Andalusia where we based ourselves in the small marina village at Benalmádena and enjoyed cultural days out to Málaga, Mijas, Ronda, Córdoba, Granada and Sevilla. I have returned this January for my annual winter work stay and oh how it has changed! Over the next 6 weeks I'll be enjoying the sunny blue skies and Andalusian hospitality

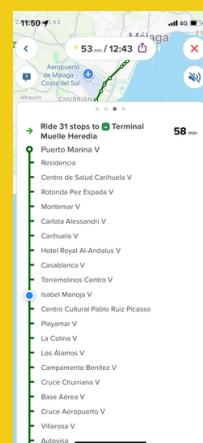

Mi despacho español

With the hour's time difference I am able to nip into Málaga on the bus for a spot of shopping, food and culture before my afternoon lessons

Málaga

Para ver y leer

I've added loads to my Netflix list to watch whilst I'm here in Spain. This weekend I started City Of Shadows (Ciudad de Sombras) which promises to be a gripping crime thriller set in Gaudi's Barcelona.

I've also bought a couple of glossy magazines to catch up on my AS cultural topics!

El Jardín

Show de Flamenco + aperitivo + consumición

todos los viernes y sábados de 19h a 20:30h

de 21 a 22:30h

• Incluye: Espectáculo de flamenco, con tabla de embutidos ibéricos, quesos españoles y aceitunas, además de una consumición de cerveza, refresco o vino.

• Ubicación: Restaurante El Jardín 1887 (Calle Carón, 1)

I found a cute little café in a quiet corner near the cathedral where they made me & my sister this delicious vegetable omelette. I might go back for the flamenco show!
